DID YOU KNOW?

- Princeton is only one of three NCAA teams including Vanderbilt and UNLV that have made a three-point goal in every game since the implementation of the rule in 1986-87
- Ohio State has four former McDonald All-Americans on its roster in Daequan Cook, Michael Conley, Ivan Harris and Greg Oden
- All four Ohio State Freshmen played in their respective state championship game in their senior seasons
- Ohio State Coach Thad Matta has the fifth most victories among all NCAA Division 1 coaches after the first six years as a head coach
- Ohio State Coach Thad Matta is one of two active NCAA Division 1 coaches to produce 20 or more wins in each of his first six season as head coach
- Drew Carey, Arsenio Hall, Michael Keaton and Lou Holtz all attended Kent State.
- Kent State adopted their school colors of gold and blue in 1910 when the basketball uniforms were accidentally washed in hot water and the original colors, orange and purple faded
- Loyola is the only Division I team in the state of Illinois to win a National Championship
- Ohio State and Loyola are the only two teams in the BCA Classic that have won an NCAA National Championship
- IUPUI Head Coach Ron Hunter was a high school and college teammate of former NBA player Ron Harper who won five NBA Championships with the Chicago Bulls and Los Angeles Lakers
- South Dakota State will join the Mid-Continent Conference on July 1, 2007

Event Notes

Home Sweet Home – Since the event became a tournament in 2000, the host team has won the championship every year.

Close But No Cigar – The Air Force Academy has played the most games in the BCA Classic's history at eight (5-3 overall). All three losses have come in the Championship Game.

Pac Attack – The Pac-10 has the best record of any conference in BCA history. The Conference has gobbled up opponents in route to a 7-1 record. USC holds the conference's only loss to Temple in 1994.

Just One of Those Days – The University of Washington was definitely on its game last year against Morgan State. The Huskies set tournament records in points (118), assists (32) and steals (23) in the opening round game. Safe to say it was just one of those days for both teams.

Young Bucks – The Ohio State Buckeyes come in with a heralded freshman class. The Buckeye youngsters, with three former McDonald All-Americans, comprise one of the best freshman classes in the country. They rank second, slightly behind the North Carolina Tarheels' freshman class in most publications.

Copy Cats – Ohio State and Kent State both make their second appearances together again in this year's BCA Classic. Both schools also appeared in the event in 1999 as Ohio State defeated Duquesne and Kent State defeated Youngstown State.

A Star is Born – Since the year 2000, the event has produced at least one player each year who has gone on to be drafted or signed by an NBA team.

Punch Your Ticket – Since the year 2000 the Champion of the Event has gone on to participate in the NCAA tournament all but once. Marquette, who won the event in 2004, was the lone champion who failed to qualify for the Big Dance.

ABOUT THE BCA

Black Coaches Association

www.bcasports.org

The Black Coaches Association (BCA) is a 501(c)(3) tax-exempt, non-profit organization whose primary purpose is to foster the growth and development of minorities at all levels of sport both nationally and internationally. The BCA is committed to creating a positive, enlightened environment and common ground where issues can be examined closely, debated sincerely, and resolved honestly. The focus of the BCA envelops the NCAA Division I, IAA, II and III levels; the NAIA; Junior Colleges, High Schools and the Professional ranks.

The Mission of the Black Coaches Association is:

- To address significant issues pertaining to the participation and employment of minorities in sport in general and intercollegiate athletics in particular.
- To assist minorities aspiring to have a career in athletics through educational and professional developmental programming and scholarship.
- To provide youth and diverse communities, the opportunity to interact positively with the Black Coaches Association as a corporate citizen and community builder through various alliances.

In 1987, the issue of minority advancement was being discussed simultaneously by two separate, but significant African-American coaching groups, the assistant basketball and football coaches. Eventually, these two groups merged to form the nucleus of what would become the Black Coaches Association. The BCA was founded in 1988, and the membership was extended to all coaches.

Throughout the BCA's 18-year history, the organization has been at the forefront of the effort to enhance the employment opportunities and professional development of the minority professional. While maintaining this original mission, the BCA has continued to view the immediate and future concerns of the association within the framework of our ever-changing society.

The BCA of the future has a "Planned Positive Vision." Our organization will systematically work toward the resolution of the issues we face by following a positive, goal-oriented program of achievement. This program involves the following:

- To address significant issues pertaining to the participation and employment of minorities in sport in general and intercollegiate athletics in particular
- Uniting as a National association to fulfill a positive plan of over-all achievement
- Utilizing our imaginations in a positive and constructive way to establish a unified effort
- Initiating aggressive and persistent action to progressively achieve a positive vision
- Communicating this positive vision to those outside of our members' personal and the organization's general concerns

The BCA holds three annual membership business meetings for specific segments of our membership. In January, approximately 300 of our football members meet at the American Football Coaches Association Convention. On average, 500 men's and women's basketball members meet during the NCAA men's and women's Final Four, respectively.

Held in May, the BCA National Convention is the marquee membership event of the BCA. The convention culminates the end of the academic year and includes professional development workshops, an exhibition, a job fair, youth clinics, banquets, a spouses program, award ceremonies and a golf tournament.

In addition to the BCA Classic football game, the Black Coaches Association sponsors two preseason basketball tournaments annually. The BCA Classic basketball event, created in 1994, began as a double-header tournament.

The BCA Classic basketball tournaments have featured 20 teams that have gone on to play in the NCAA tournament and six teams in the last three years that have competed in the postseason. The tournament has averaged 15,675 fans per game since its inception, including a record crowd of 32,250 in Indianapolis in 1996. The BCA Invitational, an eight-team preseason men's college basketball tournament, was a new event for the Black Coaches Association in 2001.

Published quarterly, the BCA Journal is the official publication for the Black Coaches Association. It is circulated to members and distributed at all BCA events.
