Texas, Vanderbilt, N.C. State and Oregon State, coached by former Princeton standout Craig Robinson, head the field for the fifth annual Legends Classic that culminates at the Izod Center in the Meadowlands Sports Complex Nov. 19 and 21, tournament officials announced.

Twelve teams will participate in the event with Texas, Vanderbilt, N.C. State and Oregon State hosting regional round games Nov. 13-17 before advancing to the championship rounds.

Tickets for the championship session are on sale through Ticketmaster.com or by calling Ticketmaster at 800-745-3000.

Craig Robinson, the former Princeton star who coaches Oregon State, could appear in the final of the Legends Classic at the Meadowlands in November.

Robinson, a two-timer Ivy League Player of the Year with the Tigers during the 1981-82 and 1982-83 seasons, is the brother of First Lady Michelle Robinson Obama.

Texas heads into the Legends Classic seeking its 14th straight NCAA Tournament appearance, while Vanderbilt has produced six 20-win seasons the past eight years. N.C. State is now under the direction of first-year coach Mark Gottfried.
